Oracle Production Scheduling Installation Guide, Release 12.2

Part No. E48798-02

Oracle welcomes customers' comments and suggestions on the quality and usefulness of this document. Your feedback is important, and helps us to best meet your needs as a user of our products. For example:

- Are the implementation steps correct and complete?
- Did you understand the context of the procedures?
- Did you find any errors in the information?
- Does the structure of the information help you with your tasks?
- Do you need different information or graphics? If so, where, and in what format?
- Are the examples correct? Do you need more examples?

If you find any errors or have any other suggestions for improvement, then please tell us your name, the name of the company who has licensed our products, the title and part number of the documentation and the chapter, section, and page number (if available).

Note: Before sending us your comments, you might like to check that you have the latest version of the document and if any concerns are already addressed. To do this, access the new Oracle E-Business Suite Release Online Documentation CD available on My Oracle Support and www.oracle.com. It contains the most current Documentation Library plus all documents revised or released recently.

Send your comments to us using the electronic mail address: appsdoc_us@oracle.com

Please give your name, address, electronic mail address, and telephone number (optional).

If you need assistance with Oracle software, then please contact your support representative or Oracle Support Services.

If you require training or instruction in using Oracle software, then please contact your Oracle local office and inquire about our Oracle University offerings. A list of Oracle offices is available on our Web site at www.oracle.com.

Oracle

Oracle takes no responsibility for its use or distribution of any open source or shareware software or documentation and disclaims any and all liability or damages resulting from use of said software or documentation.

Integration Repository

The Oracle Integration Repository is a compilation of information about the service endpoints exposed by the Oracle E-Business Suite of applications. It provides a complete catalog of Oracle E-Business Suite's business service interfaces. The tool lets users easily discover and deploy the appropriate business service interface for integration with any system, application, or business partner.

The Oracle Integration Repository is shipped as part of the E-Business Suite. As your instance is patched, the repository is automatically updated with content appropriate for the precise revisions of interfaces in your environment.

Users who are granted the Integration Analyst role can navigate to the Oracle Integration Repository through the Integration Repository responsibility. Users who have the Integration Developer role or the Integration Administrator role can access the Oracle Integration Repository through the Integrated SOA Gateway responsibility.

Do Not Use Database Tools to Modify Oracle E-Business Suite Data

Oracle STRONGLY RECOMMENDS that you never use SQL*Plus, Oracle Data Browser, database triggers, or any other tool to modify Oracle E-Business Suite data unless otherwise instructed.

Oracle provides powerful tools you can use to create, store, change, retrieve, and maintain information in an Oracle database. But if you use Oracle tools such as SQL*Plus to modify Oracle E-Business Suite data, you risk destroying the integrity of your data and you lose the ability to audit changes to your data.

Because Oracle E-Business Suite tables are interrelated, any change you make using an Oracle E-Business Suite form can update many tables at once. But when you modify Oracle E-Business Suite data using anything other than Oracle E-Business Suite, you may change a row in one table without making corresponding changes in related tables. If your tables get out of synchronization with each other, you risk retrieving erroneous information and you risk unpredictable results throughout Oracle E-Business Suite.

When you use Oracle E-Business Suite to modify your data, Oracle E-Business Suite automatically checks that your changes are valid. Oracle E-Business Suite also keeps track of who changes information. If you enter information into database tables using database tools, you may store invalid information. You also lose the ability to track who has changed your information because SQL*Plus and other database tools do not keep a record of changes.

Oracle Production Scheduling Installation for Windows

This chapter covers the following topics:

- Overview

Overview

This guide provides instructions for installing Oracle Production Scheduling on Microsoft Windows. You should determine your deployment method and hardware and software requirements before installing any Value Chain Planning application.

This installer and installation guide is for installing a standalone, non-integrated version of Oracle Production Scheduling 12.2 on your client. For an integrated version, please refer to Oracle Value Chain Planning Readme, Release 12.2 from <http://support.oracle.com> or by contacting your Oracle support representative.

Installing Oracle Production Scheduling

This chapter covers the following topics:

- Pre-installation Requirements
- Installation Overview
- Installing Production Scheduling
- Starting Production Scheduling
- Migrating Production Scheduling Data
- Uninstalling Production Scheduling

Pre-installation Requirements

You must determine your deployment method and hardware and software requirements prior to installing Production Scheduling.

Installation Overview

The steps below summarize the installation tasks in this chapter.

1. Installing Production Scheduling, page 2-1.
2. Starting Production Scheduling, page 2-2.
3. Migrating Production Scheduling data from a previous version, page 2-2.
4. Uninstalling Production Scheduling, page 2-3.

Installing Production Scheduling

Perform the procedure below to install Production Scheduling.

To install Production Scheduling:

1. Log in as the administrator.
2. Double-click the install.exe file to start the installation. The Introduction window appears.
3. In the Introduction window, click Next. The Choose Install Folder window appears.
4. Specify the installation directory and click Next. The Pre-Installation Summary window appears.

Production Scheduling is installed in a \scp\12.2\ps directory under the drive and location that you specify.

5. Review the information on the Pre-Installation Summary window and make sure you have enough disk space for the installation. To continue with the installation, click Install.

The installation program begins.

When finished, the Install Complete window appears.

6. In the Install Complete window, click Done.
7. Review any installation errors that may have occurred.

If errors occur during installation, they are logged in the file Production_Scheduling_R12.2_InstallLog.log and located in the Production Scheduling installation path (default path c:\scp\12.2\ps).

Starting Production Scheduling

After installing Production Scheduling, you can run the application.

From the Start menu, select Programs, Oracle Value Chain Planning 12.2, and then Production Scheduling.

English is the default language for Production Scheduling. To change the language, select the Tools menu, select Language, and then select the language. Restart Production Scheduling.

Migrating Production Scheduling Data

Once Production Scheduling is installed, you can migrate the data from your previous version of Production Scheduling.

To migrate Production Scheduling data:

1. Save all of your current data models in XML format.
2. Open the XML file and save it as the current version.

Note: DXT files are not compatible across versions.

Uninstalling Production Scheduling

Before uninstalling Production Scheduling, ensure that the directory that you want to remove does not contain files that you want to keep and that no users are accessing that version.

To uninstall Production Scheduling:

1. Log in as the administrator.
2. From the Start menu, choose Settings, and then choose Control Panel.
3. Double-click Add/Remove Programs.
4. Choose Production Scheduling 12.2, and then click Change/Remove.

An InstallAnywhere window appears while the system prepares to uninstall Production Scheduling.

5. In the Introduction window, click Uninstall.

In the Uninstall Complete window, a list of directories that were not removed is displayed. This occurs when files have been modified or added in these directories since the installation.

6. To exit from the InstallAnywhere window, click Done.

Viewing the Online Help

This chapter covers the following topics:

- Online Help Overview

Online Help Overview

Oracle Value Chain Planning 12.2 online help is delivered in Adobe Portable Document Format (PDF). The PDF file retains the formatting of printed documentation, including all of the screen images and graphics, and you can print individual pages or the whole document. The help file enables you to find information by searching for a topic, a word, or a string of text. Many sections also contain See and See Also cross-references that take you to related information with one click of the mouse.

To view the PDF file, you need Adobe Acrobat Reader version 6.0.2 or higher, which is not distributed with the Oracle software. However, the Reader is free and you can download the version appropriate for your system from the Adobe web site (www.adobe.com).

Oracle does not provide support for the Adobe Acrobat Reader. If you need help downloading it, please check with your system administrator or contact Adobe Systems Incorporated.

Adobe and Acrobat Reader are trademarks of Adobe Systems Incorporated.
