Improved Process for Oracle Retail Documentation Corrections

To more quickly address critical corrections to Oracle Retail documentation content, Oracle Retail documentation may be republished whenever a critical correction is needed. For critical corrections, the republication of an Oracle Retail document may at times not be attached to a numbered software release; instead, the Oracle Retail document will simply be replaced on the Oracle Technology Network Web site, or, in the case of Data Models, to the applicable My Oracle Support Documentation container where they reside.

This process will prevent delays in making critical corrections available to customers. For the customer, it means that before you begin installation, you must verify that you have the most recent version of the Oracle Retail documentation set. Oracle Retail documentation is available on the Oracle Technology Network at the following URL:

<http://www.oracle.com/technetwork/documentation/oracle-retail-100266.html>

An updated version of the applicable Oracle Retail document is indicated by Oracle part number, as well as print date (month and year). An updated version uses the same part number, with a higher-numbered suffix. For example, part number E123456-02 is an updated version of a document with part number E123456-01.

If a more recent version of a document is available, that version supersedes all previous versions.

Oracle Retail Documentation on the Oracle Technology Network

Oracle Retail product documentation is available on the following web site:

<http://www.oracle.com/technetwork/documentation/oracle-retail-100266.html>

(Data Model documents are not available through Oracle Technology Network. You can obtain them through My Oracle Support.)

Product Spec Sheet Guide

Overview

FRS offers the ability to link a specification document to the SKU for use in sales activities. A similar document is available for sending 'build' information to a supplier. It is suggested that these documents be used as a specification sheet but effectively this features allows the linking of a document containing any type of data relating to the SKU.

- Documents have to be saved in a PDF format
- Spec documents need to be placed within the `inetpub\wwwroot\FRS<system>\Specs`
folder (<system> should be replaced with the FRS system e.g. FRSLive)
- Other options are available for example virtual directories within IIS – please discuss this requirement with Oracle Support should you wish to set up such a folder)
- The spec sheet must adhere to the following naming convention.
 - S-<SKU>.pdf for files available in the sales screens.
 - P-<SKU>.pdf for files available in the purchasing screens.The pdf suffix can be upper or lower case.

Spec Sheet Upload

There are no import routines for loading spec sheets into the designated folder. This is a manual process managed and maintained by the retailer's systems administrator. PDF specification data files simply need saving in the pre-designated folder on the server.

System Operation

The system will automatically search for a spec sheet matching the SKU code when showing product and stock lines and will present the operator with 'spec sheet' icon if a match is found.

The spec sheet icon will be visible in the following routines –

Routine	Spec sheet type
Sales order stock detail	Sales
Catalogue search	Sales
Stock management	Sales
Purchase order detail page	Purchasing
GRN	Purchasing
Collection confirmation screen	Sales

Where a spec sheet has been linked to an SKU, the system will show the following icon

	This icon indicates a sales related spec sheet is available.
	This icon indicates a purchase related spec sheet is available.

Viewing the Spec Sheet

To view the spec sheet simply click on the icon where a new window / tab will open showing the contents of the spec sheet.

As this is a PDF the usual features within the PDF viewer will be available.

Archive Spec Sheets

The spec sheet is primarily linked to the SKU however over time the spec sheet may require modification. This would mean that the stock related to the old version of the spec sheet would not correspond to the current spec sheet. To accommodate for specification changes FRS offers the ability to archive the spec sheet as and when required. Archiving is an optional feature.

The archive facility is only available to users possessing the ARCHIVE_SPEC_SHEETS privilege.

Navigate: administrator – products – archive product spec sheets

Archive spec sheets

To begin the archive process, use the search options to generate a list of SKUs.

Stock list

From this list, the operator may choose one, some or all SKUs to have the PDF archived. Clicking the archive spec sheet button instructs the system to work down the list of SKUs and initially establish if there is any stock linked to the SKU with empty 'archive PDF' records.

If stock is found the system will clone the PDFs currently available for the SKU making a copy of them in the archive folder. The new PDF will be sequentially referenced automatically.

The routine will then set the archive PDF path for both sales and purchase on all stock linked to the SKU where the archive PDF path was empty.

This process will be repeated for each SKU selected.

Once finished the system will generate a message stating how many SKUs were archived.

Archived results notification

Once the archive process has completed the operator may then change the SKU PDF knowing that the historic PDF will still be available for all current stock.

Note: The archive file name is suffixed with the date and time of the archive. E.g. S-1-2-3-09052013080125.pdf
(archived on 9th May 2013 at 08:01:25)

The original S-<SKU> / P-<SKU> remains unaffected by the archive process.
