3. Peer To Peer Payments

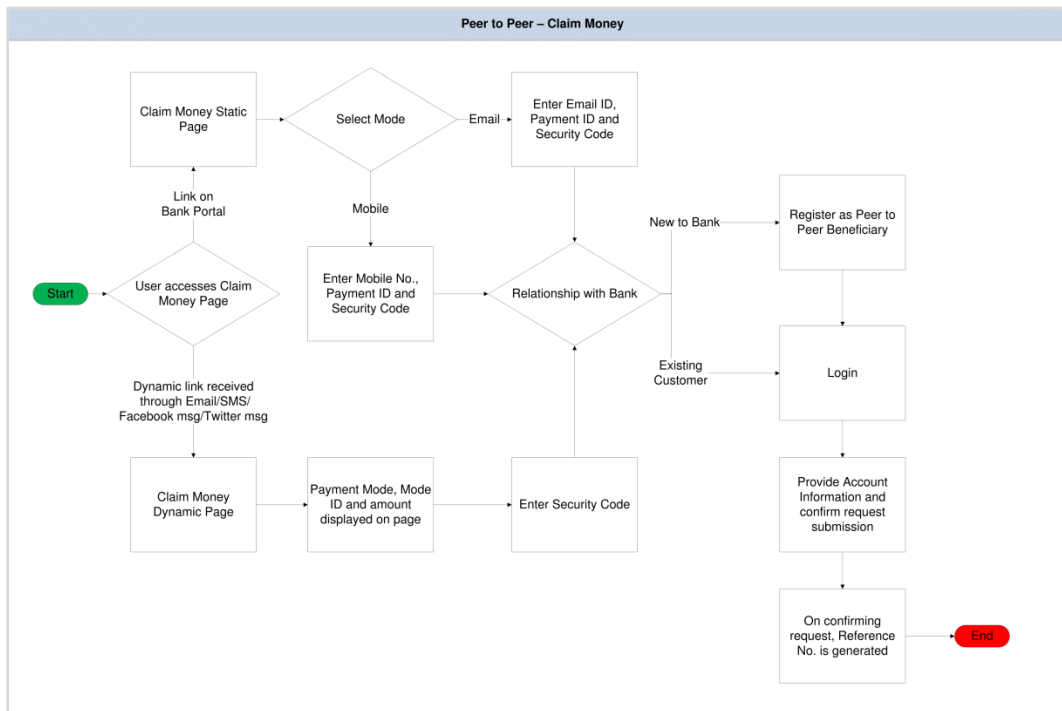

Peer to Peer (P2P) transaction enables the retail user to initiate a payment towards the payee's contact ID, namely, email ID, mobile number, Facebook ID, and Twitter handle. The user can simply select the contact ID through which the payment is to be made. This feature eliminates the need to know the recipient's account and bank details, thus simplifying the payment process by a great deal.

After selecting the 'Transfer Money > New Payee' option, the user is expected to select the mode through which the payment is to be initiated. After specifying the contact details, the user has to simply enter the payment details, that is, the amount and the source account. The user can then proceed to review and confirm the payment. Once the payment is confirmed, the system creates a link and posts it as a message to the payee's email ID / mobile number / Facebook Messenger / Twitter handler (through which the payment is initiated). The payee can then claim the amount by clicking on the link which takes him/her to the Claim Money page of the bank. A security code is displayed on the payment confirmation page, which the initiator of the payment must share with the payee so as to enable him/her to claim the amount paid.

Additionally, the user can also initiate a payment from this screen by selecting the option 'Pay' against a specific account of a payee.

6. Claim Money Link

Once a peer to peer payment is successfully initiated, a link is sent to the beneficiary through the mode defined in the payment instruction, i.e. if the initiator has opted to make the payments towards an Email ID, the link to claim money is sent via email to the beneficiary's Email ID defined in the peer to peer payment instruction. Similarly, if the initiator opted to make the payment towards a mobile number, the claim money link is sent as an SMS to the beneficiary's mobile number defined in the payment instruction and if the payment was made towards a Facebook account or a Twitter Handle, the claim money link is sent to the beneficiary as a private message via Facebook Messenger or a direct message through Twitter.

Once the beneficiary clicks on the link, the Claim Money screen is opened and the beneficiary can follow the steps to claim the money transferred via peer to peer payment.

Another mode through which a beneficiary could have received a link to claim money is through iMessage i.e. if the person transferring the funds, did so using iMessage Payments. In this case, when the beneficiary clicks on the claim money link, the Claim Money page is displayed without the options to select the payment modes. The subsequent steps required to initiate a claim money request remain the same. Please refer the user manual on iMessage Payments for further information on payments made through iMessage.

7. Claim Money – Request initiated by an existing (registered payee)

Once a user has registered himself as a beneficiary of peer to peer payments, the account identified as the account in which funds are to be credited will be maintained in the bank's database. Hence, when the beneficiary logs in to initiate subsequent claim money requests, the same account will be available for selection. Alternately, the beneficiary can also identify any other account to be credited with the fund transfer. This account can be either held with the bank or in an external bank.

Hence, when the existing customer logs into the application using the credentials, and claims money for the second time, he gets two options:

1. Receive a payment with the same account details: The customer can claim money using the same bank account which he has already used to claim money for the first time.
2. Update new bank Account details: The customer can also opt to add another account number of the same bank or account number of other bank.
