3. Introduction

A credit card is a plastic card issued by a financial institution that involves the card holder and the financial institution entering into an agreement that the card holder will pay the institution back in the future so that they can purchase something at present. Corporate credit card, is one that's held by a company instead of an individual for managing business expenses. It is issued to specific employees by their employer for business-related expenses. Using this cards, employees can pay for a wide range of work-related expenses. Credit card issuers typically have two types of corporate cards: one where the employer is totally responsible for any charges and one where the employee has personal liability.

The financial institution lends the card holder the money that they use to make the purchase and expects that the user pays them back over a period of time (generally a month). The card holder is required to pay the entire amount back including a fee or interest charge if the amount is not paid back in full by the due date.

Credit cards are used to make purchases online or at a point of sale (POS). The card holder's borrowing limit is pre-set based on the individual's credit rating.

The application enables users to manage cards effectively and efficiently. Through the credit card module, a user is able to perform a variety of functions such as viewing credit card details and statements, applying for automatic and adhoc payment of credit card dues, initiating service requests such as request for a change in card billing cycle, request for PIN etc. Additionally the user can also apply for a new credit card from the credit card dashboard. (An add-on credit card is an additional credit card that is issued under a primary card.
