3. Introduction

Supply Chain Finance (SCF) is a platform that facilitates corporate organizations to avail short-term credit that optimizes working capital. Credit can be availed by either the buyer or the seller/supplier. Suppliers sell or liquidate their invoices or receivables to banks. This enables them to make liquid money available to proceed with future orders. Similarly, Buyers avail finance for their payables from banks so that their obligations are met on time. Through SCF, the overall cost of availing credit comes down.

Using the digital platform of SCF, corporates can perform SCF transactions from the portal itself, thus resulting in improved business efficiency. The transactions can be executed, viewed, and tracked online. No follow-ups are required with the bank for the status of the transactions.

Corporates can manage creation of single or multiple invoices and/or purchase orders directly online. Bulk entries can also be made through file upload. Corporates can also accept or reject invoices/purchase orders online. The portal facilitates corporates to introduce their business partners to the bank. The business partners, or counter parties may or may not be customers of the bank. However, each counterparty should be on-boarded by the corporate customer themselves and further be linked to the SCF programs to enable conduction of business transactions.

The entire chain of processes, such as onboarding counterparties, raising a purchase order/invoice, accepting the purchase order/invoice, requesting finance for the purchase order/invoice, viewing details of the finance, repayment, and so on, can be performed using the portal.

A typical business scenario in SCF parlance -

Scenario

"Rapid Motors" is an automobile manufacturing unit of Leo Corp, which produces a large number of automobiles.

- Their business strategy is to procure different parts of an automobile from various vendors and onwards sell their cars to different dealers in the market. Thus, Rapid Motors have to transact with their suppliers and buyers.

Solution

The Digital Platform enables Rapid Motors to perform the following tasks/operations:

- Onboard their associated parties (dealers and vendors).
- View details of the associated parties on a single screen.
- Create a Buyer-led program and link their vendors, or, create a Supplier-led program and link their dealers.
- Raise invoices on their buyers, or raise purchase orders on their suppliers.
- Accept or Reject invoices/purchase orders that have been raised by their suppliers/buyers.
- Request Finance against invoices/purchase orders.
- Repay the Finance.

5. Program Management

5.1 Create Program

A Corporate can create program(s) to link their business counterparts (who are referred to as Counter Parties) together, so that the parties can avail finance. A program is created using a finance product that would be availed by the counter parties or the Anchor (one who creates the program) depending on who the borrower is, in the finance product. The finance product is fetched from the bank's system.

A counter party can be linked to a program only when they are successfully onboarded into the bank's system. For more information on onboarding a counterparty and enquiring related details, refer User Manual Oracle Banking Digital Experience Receivables Payables Management.

Using this option, you can create a SCF program to manage invoices / purchase orders. It allows you to define major parameters at the program level like auto-acceptance or auto-financing of the invoices.

A corporate user can initiate repayment of their finances directly from the portal. The settlement is effected from the settlement account (debit account) configured with the bank. The corporate user is provided the option to select a different currency to settle their finances, rather than the finance currency. A currency conversion is performed, in this case. By default, the Finance Repayment screen displays all the outstanding finances that can be selected for settlement. The user can select a single or multiple finances for settlement, in a single transaction.

10. View Limits

Using this screen, a corporate customer can view the limits that have been set for the corporate party with respect to supply chain financing. Limits are assigned in a hierarchical format to the various entities involved, such as, anchor party, product, program, spoke party, and so on. The main entity or the anchor party is the topmost entity of the hierarchy. It is also referred to as the parent entity. The entities that form the next level of the hierarchy are its child entities. Similarly, the parent-child hierarchy can continue further based on the limit-setting requirement.

A corporate user from the anchor party can view those limits that are assigned to their party ID, including the associated parties, linked programs, and products. A corporate user from the associated party (spoke) can only view the limits assigned to their party ID and to the linked programs.
