1 Introduction

About This Guide

This guide contains information about Transactional Business Intelligence subject areas, their associated job and duty roles, and the business questions that they provide answers to. For your reference:

- Subject areas are the building blocks of your analytics and reports based upon them. Analytics are built by choosing an appropriate subject area that has information that answers the business question you’re analyzing. Technically, subject areas are a grouping of information pieces called data objects that relate to each other in a particular context.
- - Job roles inherit duty roles. To control access to the subject areas, copy the predefined job roles associated with the subject area to create custom roles, and assign them to users.

For more information about custom roles and their use with predefined roles, see Guidance for Assigning Predefined Roles in the Oracle Fusion Cloud Applications Securing Applications guide.

ABSENCES OTBI SUBJECT AREAS HIDE CERTAIN ABSENCES FOR MULTI-ASSIGNMENT EMPLOYEES

All managers of an employee with multiple-assignments can view all person-level absences on the page and in OTBI reports except those that have a person-level absence that is entered using the advanced mode. The advanced mode entries do not refer to all the assignments of the employee. Even though all managers of the employee can view all person-level advanced-mode absences through the pages, they won't see the absence in OTBI, if the assignment they manage isn't specified in the advanced mode entries.

WORKAROUND

To prevent this discrepancy in OTBI, employees need to avoid creating person-level absences in advanced mode if they intend to charge only one assignment.
