If your program is a subroutine library, you may consider it more useful to permit linking proprietary applications with the library. If this is what you want to do, use the GNU Library General Public License instead of this License. CLASSPATH EXCEPTION Linking this library statically or dynamically with other modules is making a combined work based on this library. Thus, the terms and conditions of the GNU General Public License version 2 cover the whole combination. As a special exception, the copyright holders of this library give you permission to link this library with independent modules to produce an executable, regardless of the license terms of these independent modules, and to copy and distribute the resulting executable under terms of your choice, provided that you also meet, for each linked independent module, the terms and conditions of the license of that module. An independent module is a module which is not derived from or based on this library. If you modify this library, you may extend this exception to your version of the library, but you are not obligated to do so. If you do not wish to do so, delete this exception statement from your version. NOTICE.md Notices for Eclipse Project for Jakarta Standard Tag Library This content is produced and maintained by the Eclipse Project for Jakarta Standard Tag Library project. Project home: https://projects.eclipse.org/projects/ee4j.jstl Trademarks |

HISTORY OF THE SOFTWARE Python was created in the early 1990s by Guido van Rossum at Stichting Mathematisch Centrum (CWI, see http://www.cwi.nl) in the Netherlands as a successor of a language called ABC. Guido remains Python's principal author, although it includes many contributions from others. In 1995, Guido continued his work on Python at the Corporation for National Research Initiatives (CNRI, see http://www.cnri.reston.va.us) in Reston, Virginia where he released several versions of the software. In May 2000, Guido and the Python core development team moved to BeOpen.com to form the BeOpen PythonLabs team. In October of the same year, the PythonLabs team moved to Digital Creations, which became Zope Corporation. In 2001, the Python Software Foundation (PSF, see https://www.python.org/psf/) was formed, a non-profit organization |

For a discussion of the motivationsbehind the licencing choice, see Licenses.Copyright PolicyJohn Hunter began matplotlib around 2003. Sinceshortly before his passing in 2012, MichaelDroettboom has been the lead maintainer ofmatplotlib, but, as has always been the case,matplotlib is the work of many.Prior to July of 2013, and the 1.3.0 release, thecopyright of the source code was held by JohnHunter. As of July 2013, and the 1.3.0 release,matplotlib has moved to a shared copyright model.matplotlib uses a shared copyright model. Eachcontributor maintains copyright over theircontributions to matplotlib. But, it is importantto note that these contributions are typicallyonly changes to the repositories. Thus, thematplotlib source code, in its entirety, is notthe copyright of any single person or institution. |

Of course, the commands you use may be called something other than `show w' and `show c'; they could even be mouse-clicks or menu items--whatever suits your program. You should also get your employer (if you work as a programmer) or your school, if any, to sign a "copyright disclaimer" for the program, if necessary. Here is a sample; alter the names: Yoyodyne, Inc., hereby disclaims all copyright interest in the program `Gnomovision' (which makes passes at compilers) written by James Hacker. , 1 April 1989 Ty Coon, President of Vice This General Public License does not permit incorporating your program into proprietary programs. If your program is a subroutine library, you may consider it more useful to permit linking proprietary applications with the library. OpenSSL is descended from the SSLeay library developed by Eric A. Young and Tim J. Hudson. The OpenSSL toolkit is licensed under a dual-license (the OpenSSL license plus the SSLeay license), which means that you are free to get and use it for commercial and non-commercial purposes as long as you fulfill the conditions of both licenses. LICENSE ISSUES===== The OpenSSL toolkit stays under a double license, i.e. both the conditions of the OpenSSL License and the original SSLeay license apply to the toolkit. |          |               | under another distribution licence [including the GNU Public Licence.] */ PCRE2 LICENCE ----- PCRE2 is a library of functions to support regular expressions whose syntax and semantics are as close as possible to those of the Perl 5 language. Release 10 of PCRE2 is distributed under the terms of the "BSD" licence, as specified below, with one exemption for certain binary redistributions. The documentation for PCRE2, supplied in the "doc" directory, is distributed under the same terms as the software itself. The data in the testdata directory is not copyrighted and is in the public domain. The basic library functions are written in C and are freestanding. Also included in the distribution is a just-in-time compiler that can be used to optimize pattern matching. This is an optional feature that can be omitted when the library is built. If you wish to embed Nmap technology into proprietary * * software, we sell alternative licenses (contact sales@nmap.com). * * Dozens of software vendors already license Nmap technology such as * * host discovery, port scanning, OS detection, version detection, and * * the Nmap Scripting Engine. * * * * Note that the GPL places important restrictions on "derivative works", * * yet it does not provide a detailed definition of that term. To avoid * * misunderstandings, we interpret that term as broadly as copyright law * * allows. For example, we consider an application to constitute a * * derivative work for the purpose of this license if it does any of the * * following with any software or content covered by this license * * ("Covered Software"): * * * * o Integrates source code from Covered Software. * * * * o Reads or includes copyrighted data files, such as Nmap's nmap-os-db * * or nmap-service-probes. * * * * o Is designed specifically to execute Covered Software and parse the * * results (as opposed to typical shell or execution-menu apps, which will * * execute anything you tell them to). * * * * o Includes Covered Software in a proprietary executable installer. The * * installers produced by InstallShield are an example of this. Including * * Nmap with other software in compressed or archival form does not * * trigger this provision, provided appropriate open source decompression * * or de-archiving software is widely available for no charge. For the * * purposes of this license, an installer is considered to include Covered * * Software even if it actually retrieves a copy of Covered Software from * * another source during runtime (such as by downloading it from the * * Internet). * * * * o Links (statically or dynamically) to a library which does any of the * * above. * * * * o Executes a helper program, module, or script to do any of the above. * * * * This list is not exclusive, but is meant to clarify our interpretation * * of derived works with some common examples. Other people may interpret * * the plain GPL differently, so we consider this a special exception to * * the GPL that we apply to Covered Software. Works which meet any of * * these conditions must conform to all of the terms of this license, * * particularly including the GPL Section 3 requirements of providing * * source code and allowing free redistribution of the work as a whole. * * * * As another special exception to the GPL terms, the Nmap |

Math.log(v) / Math.LN10 : null},inverseTransform: function(v) {Math.pow(10, v)}}The transform filters negative and zero values, because those areinvalid on logarithmic scales.This plugin tries to create good looking logarithmic ticks, usingunicode superscript characters. If all data to be plotted is between twopowers of ten then the default flot tick generator and renderer areused. Logarithmic ticks are places at powers of ten and at half thosevalues if there are not too many ticks already (e.g. [1, 5, 10, 50, 100]).For details, see https://github.com/flot/flot/pull/1328 --- This module was heavily inspired by the externals plugin that ships with webpack@97d58d31MIT License http://www.opensource.org/licenses/mit-license.phpAuthor Tobias Koppers @sokra --- This product includes code that is based on Ace editor, which was availableunder a "BSD" license.Distributed under the BSD license:Copyright (c) 2010, Ajax.org B.V. |
